

To my lovely children of Seal's class,

Let me begin by saying how much I miss all of you and how sad I am that I didn't get to see you all last week. Already, I miss hearing my name being called a thousand times a day (instead I'm hearing mummy constantly) and the laughter during our learning times. I know it seems like a daunting time and the world is a little bit different at the moment but it is a great opportunity to spend some time at home with your families and build on those life skills. I need plenty of practice with my cooking skills (as you all know) so here are some suggestions- bake some cakes, help with the chores around the house (I know it can be boring but it's nice to help out), carry out some gardening or do some exercise with Joe Wicks (You tube every day at 9am).

I have been checking to see who has been accessing spelling shed and I have rewarded lots of honey pots so that you can buy items for your avatars. I must say that I am really impressed with some of the backgrounds! I've also noticed that someone from our class has played 84 games in one day- how impressive. We are currently class of the week and one of you is the top speller in our school! I have rewarded 500 honey pots to that child and I will be keeping your certificate safe for when we return. I will be assigning different spellings every week to you so that it isn't repetitive.

Remember to log in to your TTRS accounts, I am going to set up a battle-teacher vs children- beginning on Monday 30th March and ending on Friday 3rd April (remember I am very competitive and I don't like losing) The more children that take part, the higher score you will have.

I will also be posting some links onto our google classroom for you to access. This will include some new topic work that we would have accessed next term and some maths work that we would have also been covering next term. I will update google drive weekly so that you can access the resources that I am posting on there.

Please stay safe, listen to the adults at home and know that, what ever happens, I am proud of you and thinking of you all.

Miss. Setterfield x
